Exposure and Control Containment III

17 & 18 October 2018
Crowne Plaza
Blanchardstown, Dublin

Following the success of the events in 2014 & 2016, the British Occupational Hygiene Society and the Occupational Hygiene Society of Ireland are collaborating to organise a two day conference on Exposure Control and Containment in October 2018.

The focus of the conference is in the specification, design, installation, testing, maintenance and operation of engineering control measures to minimise health risks in the workplace. It is aimed at people involved in these aspects of exposure control and will appeal to delegates from various industry sectors small and large including electronics, engineering, construction, pharma, fine chemicals, oil and gas, education and other sectors.

An exhibition will run alongside the conference and we would like to hear from companies who would be interested in sponsoring and/or exhibiting at this joint event.

Can you afford not to attend?
